Promotion

Nolimit will implement any good promotional ideas coming from its operators

Every operator is different, and some have their own advanced promotion systems with high demands for specific types of data. In these cases, Nolimit can provide synchronous or asynchronous real-time data via a client-side JavaScript or server-side custom services. Operators without their own promotion system can simply use all the promotion functionality implemented on Nolimit's side, which is reachable from the Nolimit back office or via specific services.

Having our own platform enables us to be fast and flexible, but mainly it means that we can work creatively with you and design useful promotional features that you'll love.

Nolimit also has a complete ready-to-use toolbox for promotions that contains feature triggering and multi-channel Free Spin campaigns based on static user information, user groups or custom events in the game. Events can derive from simply playing the game or anything else that has been specifically requested by an operator.
